

How can you get involved?

The design of Kingsbrook Meadows so far is a collaboration of Barratt David Wilson Homes, Buckinghamshire Council and the RSPB.

In partnership, the RSPB and Barratt David Wilson Homes will create a spectacular new wildlife recreation area including new habitats, adventure play and pools.

We'd love you to be part of the journey, too!

Maybe you'll come and volunteer on a regular basis, helping in the gardens, serving in the café or running events.

Maybe you'll drop in on a tree planting day or to sow some wildflower seeds.

Maybe you'd like to run a mindfulness course, a watercolour session or a walking group here?

We're only just at the start of the journey and we're not yet ready to recruit volunteers. Do let us have your details, though, if you'd like us to get in touch when ready.

We'd love your feedback today

Please fill in the comments form with what you think about the plans for Kingsbrook Meadows.

Got ideas?

Let us know if you have any bright ideas for things you'd like to see at Kingsbrook Meadows that would fit with that core theme of connecting people with nature.

Respond to the planning application

Let the Council know your views, and what this will mean for you, the community and for nature.

Help nature where you live

Our gardens, backyards and balconies can be brilliant places for wildlife, and together make up a huge area of the UK where our wildlife can thrive – if we do the right things for them.

BDW is proud to sponsor the RSPB's Nature on Your Doorstep project, which is a one-stop online portal of advice to make your outdoor space work for you and nature, including step-by-step garden makeover guides and a Facebook community group for you to join and share your ideas and success stories.

Go to www.rspb.org.uk/natureonyourdoorstep

Although we have 'birds' in our name, we of course help lots of other wildlife too – making ideal habitats for birds also benefits other creatures.

And we firmly believe that a thriving natural world is essential for everyone, but is only possible if people feel connected to and understand nature.

So we love to create opportunities for people to experience nature at first hand. Kingsbrook Meadows will be a flagship site for this.

www.kingsbrook-aylesbury.co.uk